At the extreme sides of Medieval Muslim Culture, people searched for strategies and innovations to promote agriculture, sometimes against a difficult landscape. Studying our roots, too often our research models and methodologies have disconnected what was linked, in one or another way. It will be enriching to compare how these two distant spaces addressed same issues under similar cultures and values.

This scientific meeting is part of the activities [<http://www.medieval.udl.cat/en/formation/Outgoing-research-stays/>] from the Agreement [<http://www.medieval.udl.cat/en/Research-projects/International-agreements/#sections-tab-15>] between the Universities of Lleida-UdL and Tashkent Institute of Irrigation and Agricultural Mechanization Engineers-TIIAME (Uzbekistan) promoted by the Consolidated Medieval Studies Research Group Space, Power and Culture at the UdL and the Department of Humanities of the Faculty of Mechanization of Hydromeliorative Works at the TIIAME.
